Plantation Shutters

In recent years, plantation shutters have become an increasingly popular option for homes across South Australia and internationally. They are an excellent option that can suit classic, modern or traditional home designs.

Bob Burns Blinds offers plantation shutters that are made from premium poplar or basswood, sourced from sustainable forests. This is a low density and light coloured hardwood timber. All our plantation shutters have a fine texture and the lack of tint allows for the ultimate flawless finish. Plantation shutters are also available with a rich timber stain for those wanting to add a further touch of class. Pack Paint for hardwearing & easy cleaning. They look fantastic in any room.

Polyresin Shutters are the modern alternative to traditional wooden shutters and are virtually maintenance free bringing a touch of elegance to any room, using a revolutionary technology to create a matte lustre look of a freshly painted finish great for wet areas will not warp, crack or chip.
